Career In Cyber With NCF (National Cyber Force)/NCSC (National Cyber Security Centre)

Established in 2020, the National Cyber Force (NCF) is a partnership between GCHQ, Ministry of Defence, Secret Intelligence Service (MI6) and Dstl (Defence Science and Technology Laboratory).

The NCF carries out responsible cyber operations on a daily basis to protect against threats to the UK, further the UK's foreign policy, support military operations, and prevent serious crime – disrupting and contesting those who would do harm to the UK and its allies.

Being a unique partnership construct, with each organisation bringing complimentary skills and expertise that are critical to their success, NCF believe by bringing together this uniquely diverse mix of minds that they can have a significant impact on a wide range of adversaries. Resources - For Background Reading & Research

Online Event -Career in the Legal Profession.

Choosing between becoming a solicitor or barrister is one of the biggest decisions aspiring lawyers will make. So, Law Careers.Net have joined up with BPP University Law School to offer students an insight into both sides of the profession from those who've actually made the choice.

Reg link: https://lbresearch.zoom.us/webinar/register/8317737490510/WN_Uho2jm6SCgwRdoRQlo-Qw

So how can students figure out which path is right for them?

Join LawCareers.Net and BPP University Law School on Thursday 26 March at 4:00pm for a free online masterclass: 'Solicitor or barrister – how to choose'. They'll hear directly from solicitors and barristers and will:

- find out what the day-to-day reality looks like for solicitors and barristers (beyond the stereotypes);
- discover the skills each role actually requires – not just the technical knowledge, but the working style and personality traits that matter;
- learn how to assess which path aligns with your strengths, interests and lifestyle goals;
- know the questions they should be asking themselves before committing to either route; and
- hear honest answers to the concerns every aspiring lawyer has about this important decision.

Why this session is different

Students will hear from BPP University alumni who've gone on to secure careers as solicitors and barristers (or both). They'll share honest insights into what each path is actually like and how they knew which was right for them. Meet the experts leading the session:

- Charlotte Wanendeya – head of law, BPP London Central
- John Dove – criminal barrister (and former solicitor); founder of Speed Mooting and the Advocacy Club
- Jonathan Chibafa – barrister; founder and chief legal officer, Forge ESG
- Lyana Chan – former solicitor and barrister; Bar Training Course tutor at BPP Manchester

NCSC (National Cyber Security Centre) Cyber Series Podcast – Five Episodes to Explore

Looking to build your understanding of the cyber landscape in a more accessible way?

The NCSC Cyber Series podcast offers a concise and engaging introduction to some of the most important topics shaping cyber security today.

Across five short episodes, the series breaks down complex issues into practical insights that anyone with an interest in cyber can follow. The episodes cover a broad range of themes: an introduction to the evolving cyber threat landscape, the growing role of artificial intelligence, the challenges of cyber proliferation, the move towards life beyond passwords, and the importance of incidents and information sharing. Together, they provide a well-rounded overview of how cyber security is changing and why collaboration and awareness are more important than ever.

Whether you're just starting to explore a career in cyber or simply want to strengthen your awareness of current threats and trends, these five episodes are a great place to begin. They're easy to listen to, grounded in real-world challenges, and designed to help you better understand how the UK is responding to an increasingly complex digital environment. Considering Joining National Cyber Force ? Learn About Developed Vetting (DV).

If you're thinking about joining the organisation, you may have come across the term Developed Vetting, or DV. It's the highest level of UK security clearance and is essential for roles that help protect some of the country's most sensitive information and capabilities. Understandably, it's a thorough process, and it's completely normal to have questions about what it involves and what it means in practice.

MI6, has produced a clear and engaging video that explains the Developed Vetting process and why it matters. It gives a helpful overview of what to expect, how the checks work, and how the process is designed to build trust rather than catch people out. It also highlights the importance of honesty, integrity and transparency — qualities that sit at the heart of working in national security and cyber defence. The video helps to address common misconceptions and provides reassurance about how professional and supportive the process is from start to finish.

If you're exploring whether a role helping defend the UK against evolving cyber threats could be right for you, we'd encourage you to watch the video below. It's a useful introduction to Developed Vetting and a practical insight into the level of trust placed in those who help safeguard the nation's security.
